FEBRUARY 28th, 2010

Library Gallery

1st floor Kennedy Library

Hours:

The exhibit can be seen during regular library hours.

In honor of Black History Month (February) Kennedy Library is promoting the preservation of regional and local manuscript collections that celebrate African-American history. The exhibition features snapshots from the 1949 NAACP National Convention in Los Angeles and highlights from the personal papers of Alice Martin, a civic-minded woman known for her community service to nonprofit organizations on the Central Coast.
